

TTL ▲

Ticker Tales

EDUTALE

AFTER A DEATH

Nominee is not the owner.

The nominee holds the shares
as trustee for the legal heirs.

tickertales.in

Swipe →

FOLLOW @tickertales06

Many people assume the nominee becomes the owner.

SEBI's circular of 23 July 2026
says otherwise.

The nominee receives the assets
"as trustee on behalf of legal heir(s)" of the deceased.

A house key.

A death certificate tells the bank the owner is gone.

It does not tell the bank who may walk in.

A nomination makes the claim simple.
The legal heirs still own the shares.

Demat holdings, by value

- 1 Up to Rs 30,000: plain-paper form and proof of relationship
- 2 Up to Rs 30 lakh: notarised indemnity bond plus affidavit
- 3 Above that: affidavit plus a Will, heirship or succession papers

Probate is no longer mandatory.

Star Health 2022 to 2026

Rakesh Jhunjhunwala held 8,28,82,958 shares
when he died on 14 August 2022.

Transmission completed on 25 June 2026.
Nearly four years later.

The far end of the scale. A single case.

The bigger the claim,
the more proof
the system asks for first.

Read the full Edutale → tickertales.in